General advice

General advice and factual information is available for members for no extra cost and is part of the service at WA Super.

Factual information is objectively ascertainable information, the truth or accuracy of which cannot reasonably be questioned. General advice is advice about a financial product or products where the advice does not take into consideration your individual needs, circumstances, goals or objectives. It is general in nature and is not personal advice.

Intrafund financial advice

On 3 December 2012 the Federal Government passed legislation that changes the rules on how advice about superannuation may be paid. These rules came into effect on 1 July 2013.

The legislation introduces a type of advice known as Intrafund Advice. Intrafund Advice can be general advice or personal advice about a member's existing account within a superannuation fund. The cost of Intrafund Advice is permitted to be spread across the broad membership of a superannuation fund allowing members to receive personal intrafund advice without incurring any additional cost.

However, the legislation excludes specific types of advice to be considered as Intrafund Advice as well as prohibiting ongoing advice to be charged across the fund membership.

Intrafund Advice must be once off advice and transactional in nature. It can include advice about insurance within super, investment selection, salary sacrificing, contributions and the like. Advice about consolidating multiple superannuation accounts is not considered Intrafund Advice and must be paid for directly by the member.
