

Calculators

These superannuation calculators have been created to help you ideally make the most of your super. Here, you'll be able to work out how to boost your super, much co-contribution the government may give you, how to calculate various levels of insurance cover and the associated premiums and if you are eligible, how you could optimise your super contributions.

If you require additional advice, please feel free to call us on (08) 9480 3500 or make an appointment with one of our qualified financial advisors.

Superannuation#^
Super contributions optimiser calculator

Government Co-contribution#*^
Co-contribution calculator

Insurance^
Insurance Needs and Premium Calculator

Retirement#^
Retirement Planner - How to boost your super calculator

Other #^
Budget Planner
All MoneySmart calculators and tools

Developed by ASIC (Australian Securities and Investments Commission)

* Please note that this calculator has not been updated by ASIC for the new indexed salary limits that apply from 1 July 2017. It was last updated by ASIC on 13 Feb 2017. Please refer to our co-contribution page for the new salary limits and outcomes.

^ Please note it is extremely important to read the assumptions that underlie each calculator and note that their calculators are for general guidance only. The calculators do not take into account your personal objectives, financial situation or needs, and do not constitute financial advice or a recommendation. WA Super does not accept any liability for any loss or damage arising from any person relying on any information provided by the calculators.

Downloaded on: 19/11/2017 from: <http://wasuper.com.au/members/retirement/calculators/>

The information in this document is of a general nature only and does not take your personal investment objectives, financial situation and needs into account. You should assess whether any advice is appropriate to your individual investment objectives, financial situation and particular needs before making any investment decision. You should also consider seeking the assistance of a professional adviser.